The Alternative to Conscription

Playing Ostrich is of No Avail

THE LAW OF KARMA WORKS INEXORABLY

By their fruits you shall know them. When therefore, we find the world at war, we know we are not dealing with Christians, with lovers of humanity, lovers of the Truth and the Golden Rule. It is plainly evident that churches which support war are not churches of divine worship, not churches of the Christ-Love, not churches of wisdom, but churches of Devil worship, for War is Hell.

In assaying the present, one is enabled to prophecy the future. A humanity which follows Devil worship and expects paradise, the Four Fredoms everywhere in the world, is bound to find itself horribly disappointed, for figs don't grow on thistles.

What, then, does the future have in store for us and U. S.? Evidently the choice lies between self-government and slavery or regimentation, and what is the deciding factor?

Winston Churchill said after the last war that if we had minded our own business and let Europe settle its squabbles they would have concluded an early peace and there would have been no Communism in Russia, Facism in Italy and Nazism in Germany. These conditions arose out of the desperation of the masses to achieve security. The masses yielded to the blandishments of the "leaders" who promised them paradise, freedom from fear and want thru socialism and communism, adapted to national characteristics and elimination of individual property rights. In Italy and in Germany a mixture of landlord feudalism with socialism for the masses thru paternalism by the government. In all cases paternalism spelled safety for the desperate, ignorant masses of destitute people. And paternalism is regimentation, conscription, burocracy.

Recently we went much farther in reproducing the conditions in Europe and Asia which Churchill told us contributed to the desperate destitution of their inhabitants. Naturally, then the desperation of the masses is deeper. The hoax of the 14 points which proved to the old world that the word of Woodrow Wilson had no value has been repeated even more cruelly in the Atlantic Charter farce. Naturally, now, the people are becoming "realistic", that means they follow blunt leaders like Stalin and Churchill, who do not feed them idealistic hogwash but tell them frankly that they are fighting to establish British Feudal Imperialism in Southern and Western Europe as well as the Pacific, with Stalin having bargained for Soviet rule in the rest of the conquered territory.

The total result of this state of affairs is that the U. S. idealistic claims of freedom for the common people becomes a sarcastic, bitter memory which arouses the resentment and bitter hate of those who went thru the whole carnage to be sovietized and feudalized by Russia or Britain. Thus the whole world is taught by bitter experience not to trust us but to hate us, because we have the means, the prosperity machinery, but we used it to inflict prolonged war miseries with no freedom to show for it but plenty of dead and crippled.

With the advent of total war and the flying bomb no country is now isolated. No amount of preparedness and armament can protect any nation from the flying bomb that can be loaded with explosives, incendiary, gas or disease spreading materials. Of course, in the last analysis it is the infantry occupation that decides who rules.

There is no use fooling ourselves. The next war is being sowed now. Count Leo Tolstoy foretold the Sovietizing of Europe and Asia under the Man from the North, Joseph Stalin. George Washington is reported to have had a vision of the U. S. A. being invaded by the combined armies of a world wide enemy.

How are we going to meet the future?

Those who are materialistic, naturally will prepare by arming and conscripting the youth. This is being already proposed. The hypocrit church organizations which support the present war are protesting the need of military conscription. They want to work both sides of the street by serving two masters.

The only alternative to conscription is a religious miracle. There is a divine Law called Amnesty. Forgive that you may be forgiven. If by a miracle the people in these U. S. A. were to become Christians, who rather give their lives than take lives, who love their enemies and conquer evil with goodness and integrity of faith in Our Father, of course, we have all the God-given ingenuity of producing abundance for the whole world were we to unite our efforts to love and serve the Christ as we are united to produce and service the war; we could overwhelm the world with Altruism and make good, then nobody would kill Santa Claus.

But the U. S. A is not a Christian nation, our faith is in the Jewish Law of blood for blood and Vengeance on the evil doers. This proiongs the blood feuds until Doomsday, so militarism will be relied upon to protect us from the hordes of Europe and Asia. This is a natural, factual outlook upon our future, for what we sow that also shall we reap.

Under these circumstances let us remember that this nation was founded to insure that liberty for the individual shall not perish from the earth. Thus the precious destiny of America must be preserved in spite of all the folly of its people and leaders.

The Congress shoud be foresighted enough to realize that after all, the hope of humanity lies in the promises of the Christ which brings us the Golden Rule, humanizing all who practice it, eliminating strife and hell of the war. Let the Congress not sacrifice those individuals in the nation who have reached that spiritual degree of growth where they really follow and exemplify the teachings of the Christ on earth. Let our Constitution continue to protect the liberty of individual conscience, for this liberty made America the refuge for the best minds who contributed their share to the phenomenal progress that makes us the outstanding nation of the earth. Let the seed of Peace and Good Will to men on earth not be destroyed during the frenzy of military rule, for that seed must spread and populate the world.

AGAIN and AGAIN and AGAIN

In order to allay the fears of mothers and fathers that their sons were being drafted for a war of aggression, President Roosevelt made that notorious speech in which he promised that American boys would not be sent to fight on foreign soil. Upon such a promise he was reelected.

The cruel success of this promise reveals one fundamental American trait. The mothers fathers did not object to their sons defending the homeland of America. Self-defense is ingrained, is the first law of nature. But when the armies were to be used to fight for Britain, Russia and the Dutch Empire, of course, there is more than self-defense involved, hence conscription.

Since we prophecy a third world war with an initial invasion of the USA as a certainty, because this nation is the most powerful combatant in the world today and must first be conquered before the rest of the world can be subdued, naturally we are weighing the nature of the defense which, as the reported vision of George Washington stated, resulted in the defeat of the invading armies, as even Lincoln had prophecied that no foreign army could successfully attack this continent. The strength of the defense will not come from a conscript army. A conscript army is needed for foreign wars.

It is remarkable to notice that such astute politicians who advised the President to make the again and again and again statement, have failed to properly evaluate the nature of the American people. We wish Americans were Christians, because then the invading army would never reach our shores. The elements of nature would arise and produce a miracle.

But since our people prefer to learn the hard way how to use their God-given talents and place their faith in armed force rather than in righteousness and the Golden Rule in practice, we would be amiss in our observations not to remind the Congress that, for defense, conscription is not only superfluous, but destructive of that individual initiative in action which is the nature of the American people.

Were the unvarnished truth presented to the people that we are being hated by all the world for having made promise which we failed to keep and that inevitably even former allies become our enemies; as Japan and Italy have after being our allies in the first world war; young and old, men and women, boys and girls would volunteer for scientific defense training. A volunteer army for defense is infinitely better rooted in determination to win, than a conscript army which is drafted in peace time against their will.

Not till Congress has given the original American impulse of self-determination an honest tryout is there any true reason for foisting conscription upon a people willing and able to defend themselves. To distrust the sense of self-preservation of the American boy and girl is stupidity in itself.

Military weapons are mechanical weapons. Mechanical training fits all for the eventual use of machinery. Ingenuity and perseverance is the final factor which decides on whose side victory lies. A nation of volunteers produces infinitely more ingenuity, initiative and perseverance than a slave army of conscripts, even though they fight well after they are forced.

Don't sell America short! should be the watch word of congress when it tackles the problems of future defense of this continent. And the greatest treasure of America is its individualism, its individual initiative. By adhering to the principle for which this country was founded, LIBERTY of choice for the individual, with the guarantee of the Bill of Rights under our Constitution that holds true in peace as in war, this nation will continue to hold its own in two ways. Those who would rather die than break the Ten Commandments or betray the Christ, will prepare the nation to lead the world in peaceful achievements. While the rest who still place their faith in force, rather than in the power of the Spirit, if permitted to exercise their own choice will be far better defenders of their hearth and home than a conscript army. Training on a voluntary basis is bound to produuce better results in these USA than any kind of regimentation.

NATIONAL FEDERATION OF POST OFFICE CLERKS

Local Number 197, San Diego, Calif.

Mr. C. Leon de Aryan, etc.,
Dear Sir:

On behalf of the members of Local 197, I wish to extend our sincere thanks for your interest in our legislative problems, to which you lent emphasis by favorable publicity in your paper. We appreciate all assistance, particularly newspaper comment.

Since Postal Employees have no right to strike, boycott, or otherwise force attention to our needs, it remains possible only for us to peacefully petition Congress for solution to our problems. Publicity such as you kindly tendered is our only means of obtaining action through Congress.

For your information, in the very near future, bills will be introduced in Congress to begin anew the fight for equitable adjustment of a pitiful salary situation.

Again, our sincere thanks and complete appreciation.

Very truly yours,
ED SIMPSON, Recording Secretary

Open Letter To Judge Ralph E. Jenney

U. S. DISTRICT JUDGE, LOS ANGELES.

Dear Sir:

While I do not understand the technicalities in connection with Judge Knox's release of Bioff and Browne as reported in the press, the event prompts me to address you concerning my parole to which I was eligible, as your record would show, on Nov., 22, 1943. I secured attention of the Parole Board to the matter only after kicking up a rumpus. So it was only considered in the following March. Then sometime later it was denied, although I was not notified of such denial until a few weeks ago. I think the record will show that I have not received even the routine courtesy accorded the most abandoned 3-time loser. It is not for me to say in a letter to you whether there was anything in my conviction warranting such a denial as you are familiar with the details, but I rather think you will agree that there is no such warrant. Indeed I am prone to believe that you would be more inclined to such agreement today than when you passed sentence.

As to my record before and since then, I defy anyone to show any reason for such a denial. At any rate if such reason exists in the mind of the Parole Board, they haven't had the decency to notify me thereof. So long as this phony "sedition" trial was going on down here, it was not a matter of prime importance to me whether I was on parole or not, but now it makes a lot of difference. Bonds on the indictments here rule around $1000 which I could easily furnish. Consequently I am now concentrating on trying to get some kind of decent treatment from the parole Board. When you sentenced me, a man of 69 with no criminal record whatsoever, to four years penal servitude, it must have been on the assumption that I would be paroled in due course unless some subsequent conduct on my part warranted a departure from the established proceedure. That being the case, it would seem to be proper for you to intervene in my behalf at this time. If you can do so it would be deeply appreciated.

In conclusion I must reiterate that I am absolutely innocent of the charge. I did not "conspire" with Noble or anyone else with "intent" to violate any law. I believe that I would never have been found guilty if I hadn't had a lousy lawyer who was foisted upon me by trickery. Even then the jury was out 24 hours. Furthermore I believe that if you were trying the case today, in the light of the Hartzel and Baumgartner decisions, you would not even have allowed the case to go to the jury on such flimsy testimony given for the most part by paid stooges and foreign agents. What Noble and I said and wrote were mild as a cooing dove beside the propaganda of Hartzel and Baumgartner. Furthermore it should be noted that Hartzel made direct contact with certain members of the actual armed forces, whereas in no evidence was there the slightest suggestion that Noble and I either made, or endeavored to make, such contact.

I am urging the Board to reconsider and a number of attorneys who became acquainted with me and my views in the trial here have offered voluntarily to put in a good word.

Would you care to do the same?

Very truly yours,
ELLIS O. JONES

America

Speech of

America responded to the call to make enormous sacrifice in a world-wide war to preserve America and the American way against all aggressors. So the people were told and so they believed.

Ambitious men throughout history have trafficked in human blood, paying noble words and phrases and slyly reaping the harvests of their ambitions.

George Washington knew this. Read his Valedictory Address to the American people; engrave it on your hearts and minds. It is all-important in these times of world-wide war and reckless ambitions that issues shall not be obscured by tumults raised in behalf of things which are secondary. The major issue is, the United States of America, the only and last home of liberty and justice, must be preserved. America's strength must not be dissipated on any visionary international schemes. Her independence must not be sacrificed, curtailed or impaired by any international centralization of power. Her self-determination, her expression of her right to be free, briefly, neither the sovereignty nor the welfare of the people of these United States can properly be used as poker chips in an international poker game. There must be no reckless betting of her independence, the self-determination of these Unit- States, nor the solvency of her people upon any venture beyond the control of the people of the United States or without their knowledge. He who deals rashly with the future of these United States is a public enemy. No leader or group of leaders, though gifted with arrogance and presumption, can take matters involving such issues out of politics.

If America is to surrender her independence or impair it and sacrifice her economic security on the speculation that the season has come in world affairs in which the lamb is no longer meat for the lion, then this rash speculation can only be entered into after the people shall have had opportunity to pass mature judgment upon the unveiled and clear-cut issue. Only the people themselves can take such an issue out of politics.

The conduct of the war and the making of the peace cannot be taken out of the political consideration and control of the people. Their consideration and control, despite all dramatic farce among a few leaders, are continuing and vital factors. Their sons are fighting the war; their future and freedom are involved in the making of the peace.

America's economic future cannot be recklessly wasted and unnecessarily given away in the conduct of the war with any more propriety than these things can be done in time of peace. Nor has the way been cleared to compromise America's independence or security when a loyal opposition announces that it has removed peace-making from politics.

Preservation of America and Americans in their independence and in their blessings are first of all upon the list of responsibilities of "We, the servants of the people." Leaders who do not realize this have become far too big for their breeches.

It seems to me disquieting that the people have been prevented from voting upon fundamental issues in recent years. Some mysterious arrangement has been had in the last three elections that has effected to take fundamental questions out of politics, with the result that the sovereign people have been prevented from expressing themselves thereon.

The New Deal's first term presented to America many Marxist laws, such as, and including, the almost complete Fascist state known as the N. I. R. A. These measures, radically changing the form and spirit of our free government, were slickly and smoothly represented to the people as temporary emergency measures. They were accompanied with constant and skillfully designed prattle in praise of democracy.

This Fascist state was annulled by the then Supreme Court, but many of the temporary Marxist alterations in our free government have become parts of what is now called our leftist government, still trending left.

Free America now speaks in the terms of Europe's house of bondage. Whoever may be the real authors of this planning—and I once asked them from this well to stand up and be counted—did not have the strength in 1936 openly to avow the nature of their program, so they talked much of democracy, of saving the American way of life, of enlarging human rights and social security. Above all, they insisted vociferously and continuously upon the wickedness of everyone except themselves. Planned betrayal was thus kept concealed by a confusion thrice multiplied and confused.

The opposition party contributed their full share to this confusion. I do not know who converted what should have been the Republican Party to the cause of Marxism, but I do remember that this party, under the leadership of Landon, launched upon a series of the weirdest and oddest political campaign gyrations in history. In effect, Mr. Landon took domestic Marxism out of politics. The burden of his whole opposition was, "All things that the New Deal has done are good, but we Republicans could do them better and perhaps more frugally."

Thus was born the first "me, too" campaign. Perhaps the most important issue in the history of our country has been raised by the New Deal's totalitarian modifications of our free government. But the adroit managers of this new despotism, all dressed up in the rags and tatters of a people's front, by sheer mental control of the opposition prevented the people from having opportunity to pass upon this issue.

Kommissar Leon Henderson Inspects Eisenhower's Rule Of Germans

PARIS,—The peace terms to be imposed on Germany will be the strongest ever applied to a defeated country in history is the inference gleaned from a press conference given by Leon Henderson at the American Embassy.

The stocky ex-price controller did a nimble job of sidestepping, ducking and evading quesitons, but a couple of illuminating indications of the scope of the contemplated peace treaty escaped in his remarks and his replies to questions.

He's Studying

"I'm here to study the economic problems arising from the war," he explained, "and what system of controls must be applied to prevent further German aggression."

Henderson declined to state whether the line of demarcation between potential war industry and peace industry in a modern total war had been decided.

Never before in history have victors taken control of the economic system of such a large country (70,000,000 inhabitants) to prevent it from making war," he said, indicating the magnitude of the task.

Substantial Period

"No victorious army ever before imposed controls for a long term," Henderson added, and when reminded that the Versailles Treaty provided 30 years of control after World War I he commented, "Control is contemplated for a substantial period of time."

Henderson intimated that the Allies may retain parts of the Nazis' present economic control aimed at the most efficient production, and stated that such control would at first be military, then eventually would include civilian control.

Has Not Seen Reds

"I have had no preliminary discussions with Soviet representatives," he stated, "but I conferred with the London European Advisory Committee, which has been examining the problem for a long time."

Division of Labor

He said President Roosevelt had confided Germany's financial problems to the Treasury, political questions to the State Department, and economic controls to him. He plans to visit Aachen to see how the military is handling the German civil administration, and return to Washington in 10 days.

No Religious Freedom

SECT MEMBERS ORDERED BY WLB TO JOIN UNION

WASHINGTON,—Members of a California religious sect which forbids its believers to belong to any other organization were directed by the war labor board to join a union or give up their jobs at a dairy.

The group, Christ's Church of the Golden Rule, bought the Dos Palmos dairy, San Jose, Calif., in September, 1943, retaining the incumbent manager. He renewed a union-shop agreement with the dairy and creamery workers, affiliated with the A. F. L. Teamsters' union. The contract was to run for the duration of the war and six months.

Decision Unanimous

The Golden Rule group has been purchasing commercial properties in California and operating them co-operatively with sect members contributing their services, the WLB said.

The board, in a unanimous decision, upheld its San Francisco regional board's order to abide by the terms of the union contract requiring that all employes become union members.

In addition, the sect was ordered to pay a total of $280.15 to five former employes, alleged to have been discharged in violation of the contract.

Contract Valid

Two new employes, hired on Oct. 9, 1943, joined the union as required by the agreement but refused to continue to pay dues because of its rules. The five other employes were discharged a week later.

The regional board, on Aug. 29, unanimously found that a valid contract existed and directed that the "employer shall abide by the terms and conditions of said contract including the requirement that all employes shall become union members."

The $280.15 was to compensate the five men "for loss of wages while seeking re-employment after being discharged."

BOARD RULES ON CHURCH

SAN FRANCISCO,—The regional war labor board ruled against Christ's Church of the Golden Rule, asserted by labor attorneys to be activated by Arthur L. Bell, of Mankind United fame, who was convicted of sedition.

The 10th regional war labor board announced it had ordered the church to observe terms of a contract between the Hotel Cecil of San Francisco, owned by the church, and two A. F. L. unions.

SEDITION CASE NOTE: While Atty. Gen. Biddle stews over the problem of whether or not to order a re-trial of the mass sedition case, the Dept. of Justice is gradually being depleted of people who know anything about the case.

Miss Jean R. Myers, who has been an assistant in the case since its inception more than two years ago, has submitted her resignation, effective next week. Joseph W. Burns, chief assistant to John Rogge in the trial which ended futilely with the recent death of Justice Eicher, is expected to follow suit.

Of the trio of young prosecutors who conducted the original investigation of the alleged seditionists, two are now on navy duty overseas. They are Lt. John T. N. Reddan and Lt. Comdr. Edward J. Hickey Jr. William Power Maloney, who was in charge of the investigation, is still in the Department but has had no connection with the sedition case for more than a year.

Lord Moyne Death Related

ASSASSIN TELLS COURT SECRET GROUP ORDERED SLAYING

CAIRO,—Elihu Ben Soury, one of two Palestine Jews who confessed the assassination of Lord Moyne, late British Resident Minister to the Middle East, told a military court that he and Elahu Hakim had been instructed by a secret organization to slay Lord Moyne.

"Our organization always gets rid of anybody interferring with our plans, but in this case we had strict instruction to do our best not to hurt anybody except Moyne," Ben Soury said.

WRITTEN COFESSION

Written confessions that they shot and killed Lord Moyne's chauffeur and fatally wounded the British Minister last November 6 have been signed by the defendants, identified as members of the Jewish Radical Sternist group.

Why do you object to Karma—because it is eastern? What you and your kind always forget is that Christ was Asiatic; He and His God were purely Oriental. How indeed could They be anything else, since in literal truth Asia is the mother of all the Gods? Europe and the whole west have never produced a religion of even third or fourth-rate importance. The European godlings, Teutonic, Slavic, Classical, were absurd. With two possible exceptions, Egyptian and Amerindian, (and probably both derived from Asia) all the great religions came out of the east. Which has been a real cross to many good men; in his heart of hearts the Christian has never forgiven God for being so Oriental.— The I-Dao.

Undoubtedly the Jewish question was a factor in our unofficial entry into the World War II long before Pearl Harbor. Hitler, a fanatic, persecuted the Jews from the time he came into power in 1933. That naturally stirred up resentment among Jews and many Gentiles in other countries, including the United States.

So, as far as we can make out, one part of our Wilson-Roosevelt foreign policy is to underwrite the British Empire with our men's lives and our money and materials—to act as an unofficial colony of Great Britain, with the leadership located in London. For illustration, Mr. Churchill professes to fear the Arabs, and therefore refuses to let the Jewish question be alleviated by opening Palestine to unrestricted Jewish immigration; and Mr. Roosevelt goes along with Mr. Churchill on that point.

In the present war, however, we are not underwriting one empire only. We are underwriting the Russian Empire, which wants to get back to its pre-1914 size, at least. British and Russian interests conflict here and there, notably as to Poland; and in these cases our Government tries to agree with both sides.

DETROIT CITY COUNCIL RESTRICTS PRESS FREEDOM

The Broom:

You may be interested to learn that during the present month our City Council has passed a city law (ordinance) providing a $5.00 fine and 90 days jail sentence for any publisher or distributor of anonymous handbills or pamphlets derogotory to any religion or race. The ordinance was sponsored by Arthur Goldstick, corporation council. This is, I believe, our city's first "Nuernberg" law

LETTER OF THE ESSENE ELDER

Editor's Note: A discovered MSS. of the ancient Alexandria Library, translated into English.

Thus, during the flight to Egypt, Joseph was secretly protected and guided by our order, and conducted as a guest to the congregation brotherhood by the Mount "Cassius," at the slope of the mount, on which the Romans have built a temple dedicated to Jupiter. The Essenes who lived there were commissioned to introduce Joseph, his wife and the child into the congregation, that they might see our way of worshiping and praising God, "the creator of all", and learning the ceremony of eating the consecrated bread and drinking the holy wine. At our request they informed our brother in Jerusalem how it all had been executed; that Joseph was placed in the right hand semicircle among the men, and Mary his wife among the women to the left. There they, with our brethren, ate the bread and drank the wine, and participated in singing holy hymns. Further, Joseph here vowed before the elder of our memberhood, that he renounced forever any claim on the child, who was thenceforth to belong to the order. He was then made acquainted with the salutation and sign of the holy brotherhood, which enabled him during his travels to make himself known to these; they also directed him which route to take to arrive in safety.

This route went through a part of the country where there lived many enlightened, learned Jews well versed in the scriptures, and devoted to study. Among these our order had many members, who were ordered to protect Joseph and be hospitable to him, even before he arrived. This was in the beautiful country of Heliopolis with its fine forests and hard by the temple of "Jehovah," erected by Onias.

When the peril in Galilee was over and the Roman "Warus," was pillaging in Judea, making the country unsafe, Joseph went to Nazareth, that is situated by the steep mount of "Tabor." But soon Archelaus brought new terror over Galilee, and Joseph was persuaded by our brethren to go to Jerusalem, on his way passing "Luhem," and there seek protection by our brotherhood. This was duly done, and at passover they arrived at "Nisan."

Here I myself spoke with them. I was then in the lower degree of the order, and in obedience to the command of the elder, carried a message to Joseph. He proved to be a candid and experienced man, and spoke with great judgment. Indeed he exhorted Mary to discern distinctly between reality and dreamy imagination, things as different as day and night; and instructed her to quiet her mind through prayer and devotion. It appears that she possesed a very firey, imaginative mind, that often made her indifferent to commonplace things. In consequence she had a good influence in directing the mind of her son to the study of immortal truths. Far from Joseph blaming her for this, he instructed Jesus in knowledge and wisdom, and protected his pure mind from getting overstrained through his power of imagination.

And when the child Jesus spoke with the scribes about holy things, his doctrines gave great offense to the Pharisees in Jerusalem, as they considered them dangerous and incredible. because the Pharisees kept strictly to the traditions and details of the Mosaic law, they felt great animosity against everybody who did not exactly believe as they did, and who did not keep the ceremonial of temple service externally. They gave alms conspicuously, taught of "the kingdom of the dead" of the influence of good angels and evil ones, and of the future grand eternal destiny of the Jewish people. Aithough they had a great many partisans among the common people and had a great deal of power and influence with them, still the Spirit of God did not dwell either in their houses nor on their tongues.

But Joseph had adopted our doctrines, and without any figurative mysteries he clearly had fixed them in the mind of the growing child. Indeed, the child already then felt the miseries of the people; and they were raptured to hear him teach the word of God. The scribes knew him to be a Galilean, and they depised him as they despise the whole Galilean people. But some of our brethren went to the temple, and without making themselves known through the holy salutation, kept him in their midst, that they might protect him.

When the divine child had spoken publicly, in the temple, our brothers were apprehensive of danger threatening him, as they discovered the Pharisees and Rabbis to hold a private council how they might banish him from Galilee for the sake of the doctrines. They therefore allured him to the synagogue of Sopherim by taking an assumed interest about the law, as they perceived that in his ardor and enthusiasm for the conversation he needed nothing else.

Thus is came to pass that he was lost from his father and mother in the large city, that then contained a great many people, from the whole country, on account of the passover. Our friends, the Essenes, were informed of this, and did not consider the situation of the child among the Pharisees a safe one, as much more as a Rabbi, who had become a true friend and teacher to the child, no more could be present to moderate his zeal and ardor, contending as he was with the immoral hypocrites, as the Rabbi had gone on a journey to Jericho.

Therefore we informed Joseph and his wife, whom we found in double grief as they at the time also had been informed that the husband of Elizabeth, Mary's friend, had died. Thus she had been searching for her son in three days, in great sorrow, at the same time she felt a great desire to go see her friend. At last she found him the fourth day at "Sopherim," according to the information given by our brethren.

And Nobbin, the Rabbi who had taken so much interest in the child, was secret member of our order, and received orders to protect him.

Thus it came to pass that Mary, and her husband and son went back to Jutha.

Here she found her friend Elizabeth in great grief with her son, whose name was "John."

Here the two youths were much together, and talked about the sacred and divine; wandering oft into the wildest parts of the mountains. They grew to be devoted friends, and their attachment grew into intimate acquaintance with each other, in searching for the truth, John Zacharias' son, had already received the doctrine of the Nazarenes, as regards reservedness, and he knew the scriptures and traditions perfectly, but did not comprehend the beautiful and elevated in this world, nor the laws of nature, as well as Jesus. He felt great dislike to the customs of the heathens, and despised and hated tyrants.

Health Foods vs. Health Rackets

Dear Kosti:

Both your paper and your letter received today. Liked both very much. Certainly hope you received benefit from the herbs, as so many people have. About the articles on Ginseng and Soya—all I know is what I read. And, the testimony of hundreds of people since I have been married to Bill the last five years. I know many, many people have had miraculous recoveries after being given up by the doctors. Whether it is the vegetarian diet, with or without soya, I couldn't really vouch for. But, it has occured times without number. The soya nut is higher in lecithin, the nerve and gland food, than any other food known. It is considered a complete food, having all the known vitamins, except C. It has most of the amino acids, all the necessary ones, and some varieties have all. We use rice in a dietary, the natural unpolished type. I, myself, am allergic to wheat, as many of our clients are. We specialize in foods for allergic to wheat, as many of our clients who are allergic to cow's milk, are also allergic to wheat, eggs, cod liver oil. Bill has worked out a theory, which has been proven correct many many times, that allergy is a condition caused by the sex organs not functioning properly. Practically all premature born babies are allergic—in fact all the babies we have treated for allergy have been premature. I, myself, was a seven month baby. It seems that the last two months, six weeks, or even month before the baby is born is the time when the sex organs complete their development. Also, the full term baby has a chance to absorb more of the contents of the water bag. If the birth is terminated prematurely, the sex organs (we don't yet fully understand just how) don't seem to produce enough hormones and enzymes to convert raw protein or the wrong kind of protein. If the organs are stimulated to function better through the use of herbs and eating more naturally rich enzyme foods (ripe fruits, dates, uncooked vegetables) then the allergy disappears. I have to be careful about eating too much whole wheat bread (wheat protein is hard to convert) or I break out with a rash on the knuckles of my hands. You ask any doctor, and he will confirm that wheat is one of the most frequent causes of allergies, but cannot explain why. So? I use soya bean bread, which does not cause this condition. Many prostate cases have the same symptoms as allergic cases, because the sex organs cannot produce the enzymes needed to convert the foods. So, bad prostate cases cannot convert their foods, thus suffer from malnutrition and anemia, often have exzema or asthma. Women who have had female organs removed by operations also suffer those symptoms.

Temperance in all things, I think is the key note. We live chiefly on fruits and vegetables (vegetables at noon meal). I use cashew nuts as a source of protein, also. Not much soya is needed to supply the need of protein. The Chinese probably do not have the shrunken stomach from the use of soya, but lack of food. I have read, although I do not know personally, that they do not eat much. The Americans eat much more than they need. The stomach probably accomadates itself to the situation. The use of soya, alone, could not possibly shrink the stomach. We certainly haven't such, nor kidney stones either. In fact, I know of cases that have overcome stones by the diet we suggest. I, personally, am not a fanatic for the use of soya. It is a good food, but, being high in protein can be overdone. Too much protein, if one does not work hard enough to use it up, has to be burned up with fever, or a cold (misnamed). I could easily become a fruitarian, if I lived in a climate where good ripe fruits could be obtained. Both my husband and myself feel that way. Many a meal I make on just dates, cashew nuts, orange juice. I cannot handle raw soya, either. My husband has learned a lot from me. I have to cook the soya milk in the double boiler twenty minutes or a half an hour. Then I add honey and malt. The only soya butter I can handle raw is the one with pimiento and malt. Pimiento and malt are both enzyme rich and sex stimulants.

About the allergic condition again, eating too much cooked, dead foods, refined foods, and second-hand products such as meat, eggs, milk, butter, cheese, can also be a factor in causing allergy. It causes the system to have to use its supply of enzymes to digest the enzymeless foods, and without giving the system help by eating enzyme rich foods, the system and organs gradually loose their functioning power, and allergies overtake one. Dates are rich in natural enzymes, so are ripe persimmons, in fact, any really naturally ripe fruit. Eating rich enzyme foods along with cooked, dead type can be beneficial in helping one to be able to digest the cooked foods. Although, we do not eat fruits and vegetables at the same meal (except dates, raisins, figs, apples). Our breakfast and evening meal is made entirely of fruit. We prefer the type of fruit with seeds, too. Such as Valencia oranges. Navel oranges are harmful to allergic cases because they seem to lack the life giving power of the fruit that contains seeds. People who have allergic trouble find an attack of their condition upon drinking the juice of navel oranges. Fruit that is picked green and kept in cold storage has not had a chance to build up its natural life giving power, enzymes, and therefore is also harmful instead of beneficial. Enzymes, to define them as close as possible; is the electricity of life. The indefinable something that produces life. If a fruit is not allowed to mature, it does not have it. It is dead, as far as life giving power is concerned, and causes what it is, death and decay.

Well, Kosti, I must get busy and prepare my family some enzymes to partake of. If you care to "digest" this letter, leaving out the personal part, and print it you may. I leave it up to your judgment. My only contention was to explain our theories to you, personally. But if you consider it good enough to print, you may.

Love, JOAN.

Editor's Note: In matters of scientific information we discard conventional taboos which would make a free and frank discussion impossible. Individual examples serve to illustrate the study.

Enzymes are coming to the front. First came calories, then vitamins, now enzymes. It is nothing but the effort to fathom the life processes which take place when foreign material is accepted in the organism of the human body and made a functional part thereof that determines health or sickness.

Of course, those who understand the fundamental process cannot teach it to others till they are pure of heart and clean of mind, or as Jesus said: Strive ye first after the Kingdom of heaven and its righteousness. One cannot teach a drunkard and dope addict the experiences of the sober and healthy life. They are worlds apart. In this same way one cannot explain to murderers and robbers the blessings of a life of peace thru production of what one needs.

Therefore the murderers and robbers imagine that POWER spells the power to kill and rob, more and better. While the spiritual vegetarian knows that POWER spells the ability to produce, collaborate with the perfect plans of Creation and Evolution and thus be self-sustaining without violating the rights of others, animals or humans. We use the term spiritual vegetarian to distinguish from the belly vegetarian. One gives up meat because the belly got sick and the devil turns saint, while the other is a vegetarian because of divine compassion for all living beings.

Dear Kosti:

Greeting of the holiday season. Enclosed is a "mite". Kindly send sample copies to three addresses which I enclose.

Your column "Sun Workshop" is most interesting especially the translations from the Talmud. I have followed all letters of this kind and believe they are authentic.

Melker, being a Priest could not have been of Judah even tho he speaks of himself as "We Jews".

Priests were not Jews. They were Levites of the Priestly tribe of Levi. Moses and Aaron being Levites could not be Jews.

The Jew has hogged all the glory of Israel and uses it as a pedestal from which to proclaim themselves the chosen People. The chosen people are chosen in Israel of which Judah is only 1|12 as a people. Even the 1|12 they forfeit in-so-far as they make it concrete. Israel is a term classifying those who are Spiritual. It has nothing to do with physical incarnation only in-so-far as the life is imbued with the higher mind which was also in Christ Jesus—

I hope the year 1945 will bring a higher rate of distribution of your wonderful paper "The Broom".

Love,—ANNA

SOLAR AIRCRAFT NEWS

The man who pioneered a new American industry has received congratulations for a 15-year service pin from his Company. He is Edmund T. Price, president of Solar Aircraft Company, the world's largest manufacturers of exhaust systems for aircraft.

At colorful and impressive outdoor ceremonies, Price and 55 other Solar employees received long-time service pins. Selected to award the honor to Price was soft-spoken Joe Greene, foreman of the firm's Experimental Department, who came to work for Solar in July, 1932. He is the next oldest employee in terms of service in the Company.

"I have waited for 12 years to pin something on the boss and it is with pleasure that I can give him this 15-year pin, which I understand was due him two years ago last September," he said.

Another recipient of a 15-year pin was Dr. H. S. Anderton, medical supervisor of all of Solar's plants.

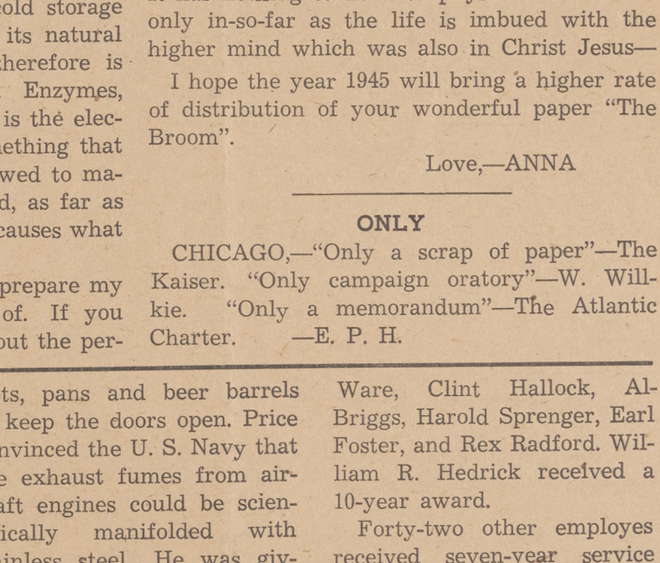
It was during the 15-year span, commemorated in the award to Price, that San Diego became the birthplace of a new world industry—the manufacture of custom-built exhaust systems for aircraft. After several years of making pots, pans and beer barrels to keep the doors open. Price convinced the U. S. Navy that the exhaust fumes from aircraft engines could be scientifically manifolded with stainless steel. He was given a chance in 1930 to try out his theory—and the experimental exhaust manifolds were so successful that today this important part is standard equipment 'round the world.

Those receiving 12-year pins included, in addition to Green, Jack Sebastian, Eugene Harman, Gene Smith, Arthur Ware, Clint Hallock, Al Briggs, Harold Sprenger, Earl Foster, and Rex Radford. William R. Hedrick received a 10-year award.

Forty-two other employes received seven-year service pins from Price, who also made a short address, outlining the "Challenge of 1945."

Price pointed out that 26 months was Solar's average term of employment, which he added, "is a pretty good indication of what kind of an outfit it is, and also of the kind of men and women who go to make it up.

Old Barrage Balloons Answer Weak-Bridge Problem



Ike Doodleschmalz is back again. Encouraged by the publication of his recent contribution—The Postwar Trailer to Fit All State Laws—he has submitted to the Fruehauf Trailer Company this new idea for the postwar use of old army barrage balloons. "This," he says, "is the answer to the problem of 'weak bridge spans' on our main national highways."

Anonymous Letter Writers

POETRY, RELIGION, POLITICS

THE BROOM is my means of expressing myself. It has no other purpose. It is an advertising medium for my own experiences in life. Nobody is compelled to read it, subscribe to it or spend any money or time on the paper and publisher.

It strikes one very funny to receive anonymous cards from time to time wherein the sender warns us to stop writing on one topic or another because they don't like the particular topic. Of course, they would like to know our reaction to these anonymous missiles. Well, it's disgusting. First, disgust with the cowardice that dares not come into the open to sign their name. Second, disgust with their ignorance not realizing that we don't ask them to read or buy our paper. We can do very well without them for every copy is sold at a loss, but we carry on as a public duty for those who need the encouragement and the Light we shed on the path.

Of course, not all anonymous letters are critical. Some people send in their ideas to be published, but have no confidence that we will not disclose their identity so they fail to sign their letters with their true name, nor giving the correct address. Naturally, such letters are scanned for the content, whether it is worth publishing and generally wind up in the waste paper basket because if there comes up the slightest doubt, the writers and contents get the worse of it instead of the benefit. Could we ask them questions the doubts might be favorably resolved, but in this fashion we have to consider their own lack of confidence and their ignorance as factors in the scales against them because of their irresponsibility.

One must be aware that a publisher is protected by law so that he need not disclose confidences and cannot be forced to disclose them. He is protected as in the confessional of the priest, the confidential relationship between attorney and his client, the professional confidence of the physician. Of course, scoundrels often are priests, attorneys and medics, and their racket is to exploit the confidences of the suckers. Also one has to deal with unscrupulous politicians like the un-American committees headed by Tenney and Dies who resppect no law. In such cases the individual integrity of the publisher is the only safeguard and no one can say that we lack the courage to tell these un-American "investigators" where to head in and make it stick. Grand Jury snoopers, FBI, D. A. investigators, of course, too, at times have overstepped their limits, but this editor told each and everyone of them what the law is and never became a party to their officious snooping.

If you have no confidence in my personal and professional integrity and my ability to protect your secret, why bother about me, or The Broom, in the first place? Even thieves and housebreakers could get no satisfaction because we keep no files. As soon as business is finished we destroy the correspondence which puts an eud to the controversy. We are living in a world where criminals hold the highest offices in government and church, so naturally we protect ourselves. Just look at the organized labor racket and the instance of Montgomery Ward!

Then there are those who write poetry but are afraid of being discovered. Mac Leish wrote poetry that was quoted against him in the Senate when he came up for confirmation. Writing poetry, like writing on religion or social science, is a dangerous thing, because your immediate family might turn against you aside from public repercussions. But if you honor us with you "children", born under high emotional pressure, bear in mind we understand your urge and understand why you want it kept a secret. If you have to express yourself and want to see it in print, have ingenuity enough to trust us that we may put you in touch with means for correspondence that keeps your identity a deep dark secret and you can indulge your vice of writing poetry that is worth publishing.

C. LEON de ARYAN vs. FRANKLIN D.

Somebody wrote a campaign poem "REJECTED" and hit the nail on the head. He depicted FDR ringing the bell of hell and the Devil refusing him entrance because he'd have to go on WPA once FDR took over the management. And there is more truth than poetry in it. But some people don't savvy the idea. They say that FDR could not be Beelzebub incarnate because he is helping the underdog and is a kind man. And that is exactly how kind Beelzebub is. He helps the underdog to get up on his hindlegs to chew up all the other dogs. And when he succeeds pandemonium breaks loose, which means WAR.

C. Leon on the other hand helps the underdog to realize that force and violence remedies nothing. This is an orderly universe ruled over by Our Eternal Father, who is Wisdom, Love and the source of all Power. This rule of God is just. Therefore, the underdog is an underdog because of his own tendency for getting something for nothing and using cunning, violence or both.

This is the difference not only between FDR and C. Leon, but between the New Deal and The Broom. FDR takes an oath and breaks it, while C. Leon takes an oath and keeps it, so help me God!

And then the miracle happens: God helps us and all hell is powerless. Whatever they do to us turns to our advantage. They advertise us as a publication not afraid to tell the truth, and an individual who dares keep the oath. A publication, though small, like David's pebble, but well aimed to floor a giant.

So you see, we are religious, truly religious and we dare rely on our oath, so help me God. That makes me an American, an individual who exercises God-given, inalienable rights and in the exercise of these rights we defend and protect our Constitution and the Republic.

Thus the issue is joined and time and progress is on our side because we discard cunning, treachery and violence that leads to War and instead rely on the power of truth and honesty. So help me God!

Gov. Warren, Socialist or Republican ?

Gov. Earl Warren, of California, has sent a message to the legislature in session at Sacramento, asking that a tax be levied on the payrolls of industry in the state, through employer-employee payroll deductions, to finance cost of medical care which should be spread among all the people of the state.

If such a request came from a New Dealer, it would be perfectly in line with the socialistic regimentation by the termites. But when it comes from an alleged Republican, it merely proves that Earl Warren is a "me too" Republican, not an American Republican.

The "me too" Republicans work to perpetuate the Newdeal in power by stealing as much as possible from the Socialistic program to avoid the stigma of having stolen from the Communists, as Roosevelt does. But by no stretch of imagination can a socialistic program be called either American or Republican. Of course, it is so called, and the suckers fall for it, because we have public school education here and everybody in California can read. Therefore, all a double crossing politician has to do is label the thing, and the suckers are so proud that they can read, that when they see REPUBLICAN, they believe that makes it so, just as they believed FDR's label when he kept us out of war, step by step, by repeal of the neutrality law, donation of destroyers to Britain, etc.

American, to remind Earl Warren, is the man who believes that the individual has to attend to his insurance, not the state. Once regimentation starts, by which the state does the thinking and deciding for the individual, we are on the road to National Socialism, so why fight the Nazis?

The alleged Republican party is a "me too" outfit of politicians who betray America by aping the Newdeal, the Socialists and the Communists, to win the votes of the subnormal masses which are unfit for American self-government, instead of removing the obstacles which keep the masses depressed, economically and therefore mentally and politically, that we may have a free people.

S. D. Ministers Ask Liquor Ban

The San Diego Ministerial Association sent a request to President Roosevelt asking that liquor be banned for the duration of the war and six months thereafter, on the premise that such action would make available much manpower and material for the prosecution of the war.

In the first place, in this nation, and under our form of government, there is supposed to be a very distinct separation of Church and State. The business of the Church is to teach divine truth and discipline in obedience to the Talmud for the Jews and to Christ for Christians. But it has no business in affairs of the state, internal or external. When the Church does its work of religious education and discipline well, the citizens, naturally, will conduct the affairs of government properly, because, as individuals they become conscious of the divine wisdom which rules all things for good, and will therefore conduct the affairs of government to conform with the TRUTH, which rules the universe, the whole universe, material and spiritual, and man in it, body and soul.

When a religious body butts into the affairs of the state, as a religious body, it is high time to call attention to their lack of discipline and good faith, for they, because they have failed in the work as a church association to teach and bring forth self-discipline in the individual and demonstrate by the examples of their own congregations the superiority of their practice in LIFE, they go to the state and demand that the government enact repressive legislation, which cures nothing and merely adds to the evil.

In the second place, when a supposedly Christian outfit demands that the alleged evil be banned merely to fight a war, they prove themselves tripple hypocrites. If a Jewish association asked for measures to help fight a war it would be in line with their Talmudic Torah of a life for a life; but a Christian association, —NEVER. A Christian association teaches to love one's enemies and do good for evil.

Now for the sake of an argument, let's accept the premise that liquor as an evil should be repressed by crimiual legislation, does it not demonstrate again the evil intent of the preachers who ask that the evil be banned merely to aid another evil, war? and that the evil be permitted to return as soon as it no longer interferes with the conduct of the war! Those preachers are not even arguing that they intend to protect humanity from the evil of liquor, they shed crocodile tears that liquor interfers with the war. War is lawful according to Jewish Torah precepts but unlawful according to the Sermon on the Mount of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Whom do these preachers serve anyway? By these fruits you shall know them.

GENTILE ASSOCIATION CHARTER VOIDED BY COURT

CHICAGO,—The Illinois corporate charter of the Gentile Cooperative association was ordered dissolved by Judge Joseph A. Graber in Superior court on the ground that the association defied a court order of Nov. 15 to turn over its books and records for examination by Atty. Gen. Barret, who had charged that the organization was anti-semitic.

"The court is convinced," Judge Graber said, "that this is a subversive organization the same as the Ku Klux Klan, the Silver Shirts, the Know-Nothings, and all the rest—absolutely contrary to the ideals of our form of government, arraigning one class against another, building up prejudice and intolerance of one group against another... hiding behind an organization created by the state."

Eugene R. Flitcraft, managing director of the association, who said it is not an anti-Semitic but pro-Gentile, announced that the Superior court order will be appealed, and that, if necessary, the organization will function without a charter.

SHE LOVES HIM

I do believe the God above,
Created you for me to love.
He picked you out from all the rest
Because He knew I'd love you best.

I had a heart and it was true,
But now it's gone from me to you,
Take care of it as I have done
For you have two and I have none.

If I get to Heaven and you aren't there,
I'll write your name on the Golden Stair
So all the angels will know
I love you darling, I love you so.

If you aren't there by Judgment Day,
I'll know you've gone the other way.

I'll give the angels back their wings
Their golden harp and everything;
And just to show you what I'd do;
I'd even go to hell for you.

Let It Be Our Last Mass Trial !

(SAT. EVE. POST, Jan. 6, 1945)

It is probable that the Department of Justice long ago realized that the sedition trial in Washington was a particularly obstreperous white elephant, but it was not until the death of the trial judge, Edward C. Eicher, that the Department had the opportunity to cut loose and save its face. For our part, we hope that this is the last time that American justice is made to look silly by an effort to emulate Nazi-Communist propangada trials.

The so-called sedition trial was an effort to lump in one basket the sins and irregularities of a variety of cranks and dissenters, ranging all the way from Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling to the late Elmer J. Garner, age eighty-three, who died during the trial in a Washington rooming house, leaving, according to Senator Langer of North Dakota, forty cents as his sole assets. The thirty defendants were accused of various manners and degrees of sedition, but there was no reason to try them en masse, since their alleged unrelated offenses were committed in places as far apart as New York and California. The idea seems to have been to stage a patriotic rally in a courtroom.

Months ago, the Washington Post, which has done its share in ferreting out evidence of actual sabotage, reached the conclusion that the case would "stand as a black mark against American justice for many years to come." A touch of courage in Washington—a willingness to defy the asinine charge that an end to the farce indicates sympathy for traitors and "appeasers" —would have disposed of the long-drawn-out indignity before it reached the depths of absurdity. As things were, however, only the death of Judge Eicher availed to release American justice from an exhibition far more appropriate to the courtrooms of Berlin and Moscow than to those of the United States of America.

The fact that only the death of the trial judge could put an end to the show must stand as a warning to every citizen that the right to a full and fair trial as an effort to render justice, and not as a means of making a good show to stimulate morale or for some other extraneous purpose, is one which can be maintained only by constant vigilance and labor. The protection of American justice from such showmanship ought to rest on more secure ground than the mortality of Federal judges. Perhaps the poor reception enjoyed by the Washington performance will make its repetition less likely.

He 'll Know Better Next Time

A sauntering rookie from Kentucky encountered a brisk second lieutenant. "Mawnin'," drawled the rookie pleasantly.

The outraged officer launched a stinging lecture on military courtesy, with emphasis on saluting.

"Lawdamighty," said the rookie. "If I'da knowed you was gonna carry on like that, I wouldn't have spoke to you at all."

Rural residents looking to the future are making heavy plantings of trees about their homes, perhaps as a defense against city relatives who may "drop in" for Sunday dinner in their postwar helicopters.
